FRONTLINE'S SUBSIDIARY, BHR-FRONTLINE, ATTAINED CMMI LEVEL 3

Singapore, 31 July 2007 – Frontline Technologies Corporation Limited's ("Frontline"), a premier pan-Asian, IT-service provider, announced that its subsidiary, BHR-Frontline Technologies (Dalian) Co. Ltd ("BHR-Frontline"), has attained the Capability Maturity Model Integration (CMMI) Level 3.

Based in Dalian, China, BHR-Frontline specializes in application development and outsourcing services for projects in China and customers in Asia. BHR-Frontline's attainment of the CMMI demonstrated a strong foundation in pursuing a continuous improvement culture. This achievement is testimony of BHR-Frontline's operational capabilities as well as the quality and effectiveness of its methodologies and processes.

"Having our processes certified is a boost to our outsourcing services especially as BHR-Frontline is gaining increased recognition in the region. Our customers also benefit from enhanced product and service qualities as a result of the betterment of our processes", said Shirley Wong, Managing Director of Frontline Outsourcing (Asia) Pte Ltd.

Amongst the many significant deals, which BHR-Frontline secured in recent times, included the fulfillment of PSA Corporation's IT development needs, including applications development, maintenance and support, project management and IT support. Within Dalian, BHR-Frontline was responsible for the replacement and development of an e-commerce portal, the Express Port Community System, which was created to support online transaction services for the Dalian Port community. Another deal involved the development and implementation of the enterprise resource planning system for a container terminal for the Dalian Port.
